

Identification, collection and evaluation of walnut genotype in Kermanshah province

a.haji-Amiri

agricultural research center of kermanshah

One of the most important research programs in Iran is clonal selection. In the present review identification and collection of 78 genotypes and ecotype walnut were determined during period of 1995 to 1998. According to local gardener information and nine characteristics of walnut fruit the stage of harvest by the method descriptor include: fruit shape, hull fruit, stick hull to grain, fatty grain, colour grain, weight seed, weight hull, weight grain and percent grain in this design of used "Duncans Multiple Range Test" some of genotypes according to Percent of grain and weight of grain, weight seed changing this first step include: Paveh2, Javanrood2, Kangavar2, Bilivar 11 and 39 of 55 percent grain at the class A, Genotypes number Paveh6, Sahneh 4,5,6,7 of excess 7 weight grain at the class A, Genotypes number Paveh8, Sahneh 4,5,6,7 of excess 15/5 gram weight seed at the class A, The whole genotypes collection seed of preservation.