

Investigation the qualitative characteristics of pomegranete cultivars in Yazd province

H.Behzadi Shahrabaki.

Yazd Agriculture Research Center , Yazd

Pomegranate is the most important production in Yazd province . In order to increase in put, gardeners pay a aspecial attention to cultivation, keeping and harvesting problems. Therefore, in this research a number of qualitative characteristics such as : peel weight percentage , stone weight percentage, amount of citric acid , total solouble solids, pH, etc. in ten cultivars (3 fruit for each cultivar) were detemined and according to the results it is found that each cultivar can be used for a special purpose.